For over 12 years, On Point for College has been dedicated to helping low-income Syracuse youth achieve their dreams of higher education. More than 2,732 students have enrolled in 200 colleges and universities as a direct result of On Point for College and over 90 percent of them were the first person in their family to attend college! Most impressively, more than 72 percent of On Point students return to college for their sophomore years — well above the national average retention rate.

Help us Help Them

Starting college can be a difficult experience for any student, but that struggle is magnified for those who lack the economic resources for many of the necessary “little things” such as text books, bedding, bath towels, notebooks, calculators, thumb drives, dictionaries, alarm clocks, school clothes and even transportation to and from school. 85 percent of all funds raised by On Point provides students with these essentials, so they can concentrate on what really matters — academics.
